

Reducing waste and recycling during your move

Giving yourself enough time to sort through your things before you move will keep you from feeling overwhelmed and allow you to find the best reuse, recycling and safe disposal options.

- Separate your things into two piles:
 1. Keep
 - Find packing tips on the back of this flyer
 - Repair/fix: Visit a fix-it clinic for help repairing household items. www.hennepin.us/fixitclinic
 2. Get rid of it options

Packing

Use reusable or recyclable packing materials

- Pack your boxes with reusable or recyclable padding like towels, blankets, cloth napkins, clothing, newspaper, reusable bags and string or rope.
- If you use packing peanuts, choose starch-based ones that break down in water.

Cleaning supplies

Use up the last of your cleaning supplies during the final top-to-bottom clean of the property you are moving out of. This will limit the products you need to dispose of or take with you.

Moving In

Properly dispose of items left behind

If the previous tenants of your new home left behind any hazardous materials, bring them to a county drop-off facility (see below). Check with your city recycling coordinator for city-hosted cleanup days to dispose of unusable non-hazardous items.

Use less-toxic cleaning supplies

Save money while cleaning and keep pets and family members healthy by making your own cleaning products. Find recipes at www.hennepin.us, search: green cleaning.

If you choose to purchase cleaning products, do so carefully. Learn about what labels mean on products and how to reduce toxins in your home at www.hennepin.us, search: reduce hazardous waste.

Buy used

Visit local reuse retailers or look online for used household goods and furniture.

Reuse or recycle boxes and crates

- Use reusable crates instead of cardboard boxes. There are several companies that will deliver reusable boxes and moving supplies to your home and pick up the materials after your move.
- If you're using a moving company, ask if they provide reusable crates, reused boxes or if they'll buy back your boxes.
- Find reusable moving crates and used cardboard boxes by searching for "boxes" in Hennepin County's Choose to Reuse Directory. www.hennepinchoosetoreuse.org

Moving In

Dispose of packing supplies

Check with packaging and shipping stores to see if they will reuse your packing materials. Give away boxes by posting them online or giving them to a friend. If you can't find anyone to reuse your boxes, make sure to recycle them.

Set up recycling

Find out how recycling service works in your city by contacting your city recycling coordinator – find contact information at www.hennepin.us/recycling.

If you live in an apartment building, condo, or townhouse, ask your property manager where the recycling bins are located. Property owners and managers are required to provide residents with the opportunity to recycle.

Make recycling convenient by placing containers wherever you generate recycling. Remember to recycle items from the bathroom, kitchen, laundry room and office.
